THE TRIBUNE.

The Oregon Emigrants.

Mesars. Greeley and McElrath: I saw in your paper of yesterday morning in a communication from the City of Washington, a notice of the misfortunes which have already befallen the company of emigrants to the Oregon Territory. It appears that eight persons, women and children, died of thirst, starvation or fatigue before reaching Fort Hall on the Saptin!-that their cattle and other animals were very much emaciated, and their hopes of getting to Lower Oregon were surrounded with such gloomy forebodings that some of the company had returned to the States. This is sad news to me; not because I have relatives among that daring band, or ties or interests connected with them, other than those which would follow any individuals similarly circumstanced; I am made sorrowful by deriving from a recollection of my own suffering in those terrible regions, a clear idea of the lingering agony which those mothers, and children must have endured, from the time want began to creep upon them, or weariness to waste away their lives, till the last pang was swallowed up in death! I do not believe that one who has never crossed the Rocky Mountains, that awful barrier of snows, and herbless sands, and naked rocks, can have a fair conception of the horrors which hang around every day and hour of that courney! Perpetual journeyings themselves if attended with the comforts of eating, drinking and sleeping, as found along the high ways of civilized countries, would be quite trying to health and mental quiet. Ladies with families in charge would sink under the hardships, and the physical powers of children would be materially depre-

But in progresses over the Plains on this side of the Rocky Mountains, as well as among those mountains themselves, there is no roof under which to sleep; the dccp heavens gemmed with stars-or covered with the pall of the tempest, is the wayfarer's only shelter. He has not even a tree to cast its branches over him at a dozen encomprients from the frontier of the States, to He has no road on which to travel. On the trail along the banks of the Great Platte the traveler is beset with tall grass, so harsh as soon to wear the fere parts of his animal's hoofs to the quick unless they be protected with iron shoes. or bound up with raw hide taken from the neck of the buffalo buil. When he passes the grassy district and approaches the mountains, he finds himself among endless fields of different species of cacti or prickly pear, which fill his enimals legs with thorns; or among vast fields of loose send, small sharp rocks, the wild wormwood, or tracts of scorie; all of which continually maim and weary his riding and pack-bearing animals to such a degree as to compel him, if he would advance on his journey, to submit his own limbs to be lacerated in a similar manner. He has nothing but meet for food. A little meal flour and Indian corn is taken out to sustain life until the adventurer meet the buffalo. These animals are usually found in the latter part of May, (the time when parties who intend crossing the mountains, leave the States.) about 300 miles from the frontier. From this point onward, wild meat is usually relied on as the only diet, until they reach lower Oregon, a distance of 3,000 miles.

The sufferings of women and children on such a journey, made on horses or mules, with such sustenance and lodging, must often end in death. It is indeed remarkable to me that more of the Oregon emigrants did not die before reaching Fort Hall.

I will hereafter furnish for your paper a description of the part of the journey still before them, from which some idea may be gleaned, of the sufferings which still await them. THOMAS J. FARNHAM.

COPY of a letter from a POSTMASTER, dated

Mr. ISAAC BUTTS, Dear Sir: I have just received 3 doz. of Wister's Balanm of Wild Cherry through Messis. Hamden's Express, for which I return you my thanks. The reputation of the medicine had preceded it, and I think, for a country village, I shall make large sales of it. I have already sold some of it, which I un-derstand is doing wonders, especially to a gentleman who has used all the advertised medicines for liver complain and consumption. He has had a severe cough for a year and a half, which nothing could check for any length of time, until he commenced taking "Wistar's Balsam," and although he has taken bat a part of one bottle still his cough has almost en-tirely left him. He had taken to BOTTLES of "Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life" with little or no benefit.

CITY INTELLIGENCE. SATURDAY.

COURT OF SESSIONS..... Before the Recorder and Aldermen Rawson and Waterman.-Jonas B. Phillips, Acting District Attorney.

Case of James G. Bennett St. Moses Y. Beach FOR LIBEL ex. rel. THE PEOPLE.-In this case, in which Mr. Beach had some time since put in a ples of guilty, and against whom Mr. Bennett had also instituted a civil suit, Col. Haskett, of counsel for Mr. Beach, offered an affidavit showing he fact of thecontinuance of the civil suit, for he purpose of having the judgement of this Court postponed until the termination of the civil suit .-This was opposed by Mr. Jordan, of counsel for Mr. Bennett. The Court after stating the rule to be as contended for by the counsel for Mr. Beach, postponed the sentence until the civil suit shall be dis libel on Benjamin H. Day, the Court remarked that the libel was merely a technical one on Mr. Dayas Mr. Beach had proved the truth of all the chargehe had made; but the Court considering that it was not a proper subject of remark in the public paperand would therefore impose a merely nominal fine of $50. Mr. De Witt however, counsel for Mr. Beach, having expressed a wish that the sentence should be suspended until he could interpose some affidavits of a nature which he did not deem it prope to mention at present, the sentence was suspende intil the next term of the Court.

TRIAL FOR A DISORDERLY HOUSE .- Mary Woods Was tried for a misdemeanor int keeping a disorderly house in Read street, the resort of dissolute and vide persons of both saxes. The Jury found her guilty, and the Court ruspended sentence for the piesent, as she had vacsted the pirmises and ceased her business on the 30th Angust last. The verdict, however, shall hang over her. The Recorder stated he should punish severely the landlords of all such houses, it brought before him, for letting them for prostitutional pur-Sec. The Jury were then discharged for the term.
Mr. Warner, of counsel for Amelia Norman, inted for assault with intent to kill Henry S. Ballard by stabbing, ranewed his motion of yesterday for her discharge from prison, on account of not having been tried, or that the bari in her case he so reduced that triel can be obtained. The Caurt after hearing the ros, ective counsel, took the matter under consideration until Tuesday next.

ATTEMPT TO STRIKE PROMITHE ROLL.—The motion of Higher Law, I. S.

tion of Hiram Hunt, Esq. to strike Counchins W. Terhune from the roll of counsellors of this Court for malpractice, came up for hearing. Mr. Terhune was heard in defence, and the Court remarked that there was considerable discrepancy in the testimony in his case—that it is found that Mr. Terthe Court remarked that there was considerable discrepancy in the testimony in his case—that it is found that Mr. Teriune was to receive $10 from Mrs. Barter, which he had received—that his commencing a suit for her in the Superior Court constituted no lien on the goods—and that unless Mr. Teriune restored the goods to Mrs. Baxter, before the first fav of the next tarm, his name would be stricken from the coll of Attorneys and Counsellors of the Court.

The Court these adjustered for the Court. The Court then adjourned for the term.

Gentlemen—Parental feelings induce us to make the following statement of facts in relation to the important cure of our little daughter, wholly effected by the use of Sands's Sanaparilla. For pearly three years she was afflicted with a most inveterate eruption on the body, which at times was so bad, connected with internal disease, that we despeired of her life. The complaint commenced in the roots of the hair, and gradually spread until the whole head was enveloped and then it attacked the ears, and ran down the neck, and continuing to increase until it covered the most of the body. It commenced with a small pimple or puzzule, from which water at first discharged trial produced greatitelting and bound; they matter or pus formed, the skin cracked and bled, and the pus discharged freely. The safferings of the child were so great as almost wholly to prevent natural feet, and the odor from the discharges so offensive as to make it difficult to pay that particular attention the nature of the child were so great as almost wholly to prevent natural

it difficult to pay that particular attention the nature of the case required. The discase was called Scald head and general Salt Rhenin. We tried van as remedies, with high benefit, and considered her case almost beyond the reach

Before the first bottle was all used, we perceived an improvement in the appearance of the emption; but the change was so rapid for the better, that we could scarely give greedence to the evidence of our own eyes. We continued its use for a few weeks, and the result is a perfect cure. To all Parents we would say:—If you have children suffering with any disease of the skin, use Sanda's Saraaparilla. Messrs. A. B. Sands & Co.

Gentlemen: I can speak from a very gratifying personal experience of the great value of your preparation of Sarsaperilla. For about nine months I suffered beyond expression from an attack of that Protean and destroying disease Neuralgia, by which I was rendered incapable of attending my ordinary employment. For months I was unable to write a line or hold a pen or convey food to my month; and such was my bodily distress that to sleep, except in brief catches after extreme exhaustion, was impossible. The medical treatment usual in this disease availed me nothing, and I was at last persuaded to try your Sarsaparilla. Before the second bottle was quite used the diswas impossible. The medical treatment usual in this disease aveiled me nothing, and I was at last persuaded to try your Sarsaparilla. Before the second bottle was quite used the disease absted. I continued to take it to the amount of six bottles, and was perfectly reliaved, and I hope permanently, no indication of a relance having appeared yet.

I believe you have not claimed for your Sarsaparilla, that it is particularly adapted to the tormenting disease to white I was anbiget, but I have no doubt it was the mains of my recovery, and should have no hesitation in recommending it to others who may be suffering from Neuralgia. The rationale of its success is, I think, not deficult of explanation.

Several metallic preparations, such as nitrate of silver and arsenic, have been much relied on in late years, but they failed in my case. Respectfully, your friend and oh't syt...

was I who showed him the process. Such are his claims as the the first worker of cast steel.

As for John P. Conger it is an old trick of his to palm off his tools as being manufactured by me but while above he did not make it work very well, but having procured Osborn & Little to assist in doing the mean and dirty work they have been somewhat successful, and appear to be quite wrathy in being detected in these operations. All I ask of them therefore is, that they may no longer be ashamed to put the real maker's name in full and place of business on the tools, as other mechanics do, that they may stand on their own merits. P. S.—Osborn & Little assert so positively that they have my tools I suppose they have obtained a sample, which they my tools I suppose they have obtained a sample, which they keep as a kind of stool pigeon to enable them more successfully to put off the spurious tools.

TO THE PUBLIC.—Whereas Osborn & Little, of 33 Fulton-street, have advertised Conger's Edge Tools for sale, and and the impression has gone abroad that they are of my make, and whereat the said Osborn & Little are unwilling to remove said erroneous impression by stating the whereabouts of tig real maker, therefore, to undeceive my friends and the public in general, I would merely state that my tools can be had at only No. 33 Attorneystreet, or at George Briggs & Co. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

FROM M. E. VAN BUREN.—I, the Subscriber, do hereby cartify, that about eighteen months since. I caught a heary cold, which produced a violent cough, pain in the breast, and a general derangement of the whole system.—
The symptoms gradually increased, not withstanding the many remedies that were used. My cough was very tight and troublesome; considerable emaciation and weakness; at times, violent papitation of the heart, particularly when I excited myself; hectic fever; chills, which were succeeded by hot flashes, and great burning in the raim of my hands and soles of my feet. My bowels were costive and irregular. Being of the opinion of my physicians that I was in a rapid decline, I never expected to recover. Hearing at this time so much of Schenck's Fulmonic Synup, and the great cures it was making in this city, I resolved to give it a trial. Soon after I commenced using it, it caused a copious expectoration of yellow matter, which afforded me great relief. Under its use all my disease disappeared, had I now enjoy almost as good health as ever I did.
